

Armed conflicts

Armed conflicts in the world in 2017

68.5 MILLION persons were forcefully displaced as a consequence of conflicts, violence and persecution at the end of 2017, according to UNHCR data

- Countries experiencing armed conflicts in 2017
- Conflicts with high levels of violence with more than one thousand fatalities a year
- Countries with more than 1,000 conflict-related deaths
- High level of sexual violence in armed conflicts according to the UN
- Main countries of origin of refugee population until mid-2017

With the support of:

Agència Catalana de Cooperació al Desenvolupament

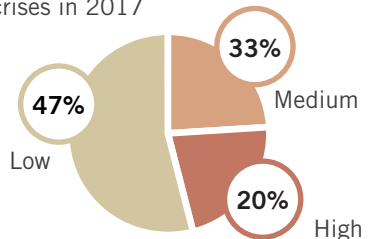

Generalitat de Catalunya

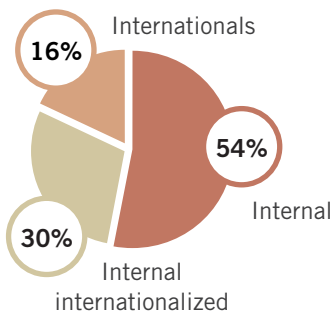

Ajuntament de Barcelona

Socio-political crises

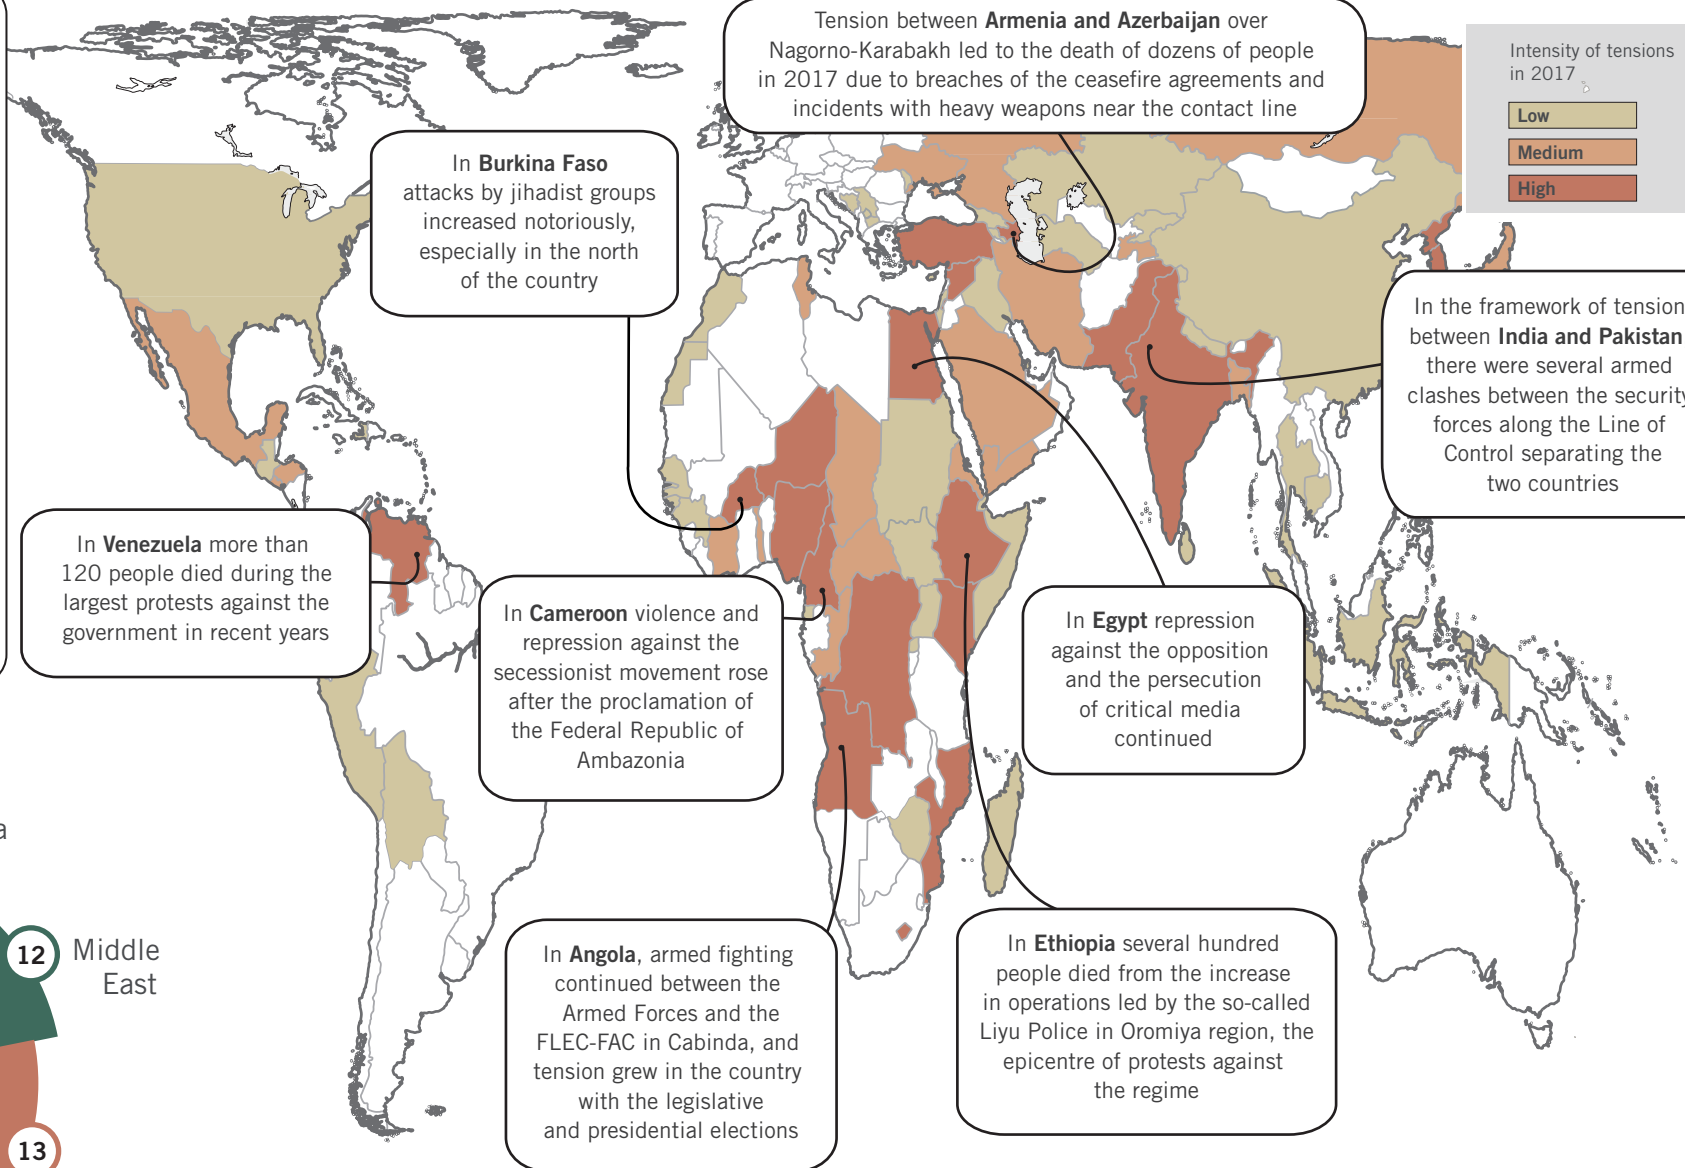

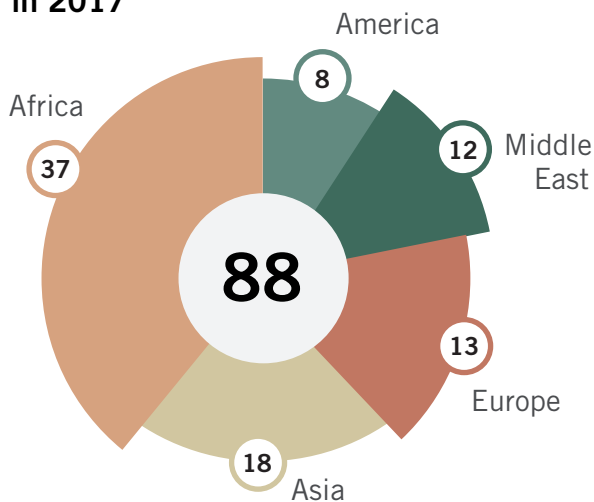

Intensity of the socio-political crises in 2017

Typology of socio-political crises

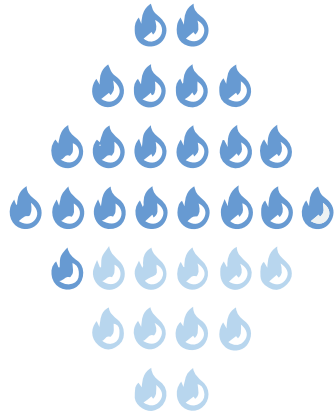

Socio-political crises in 2017

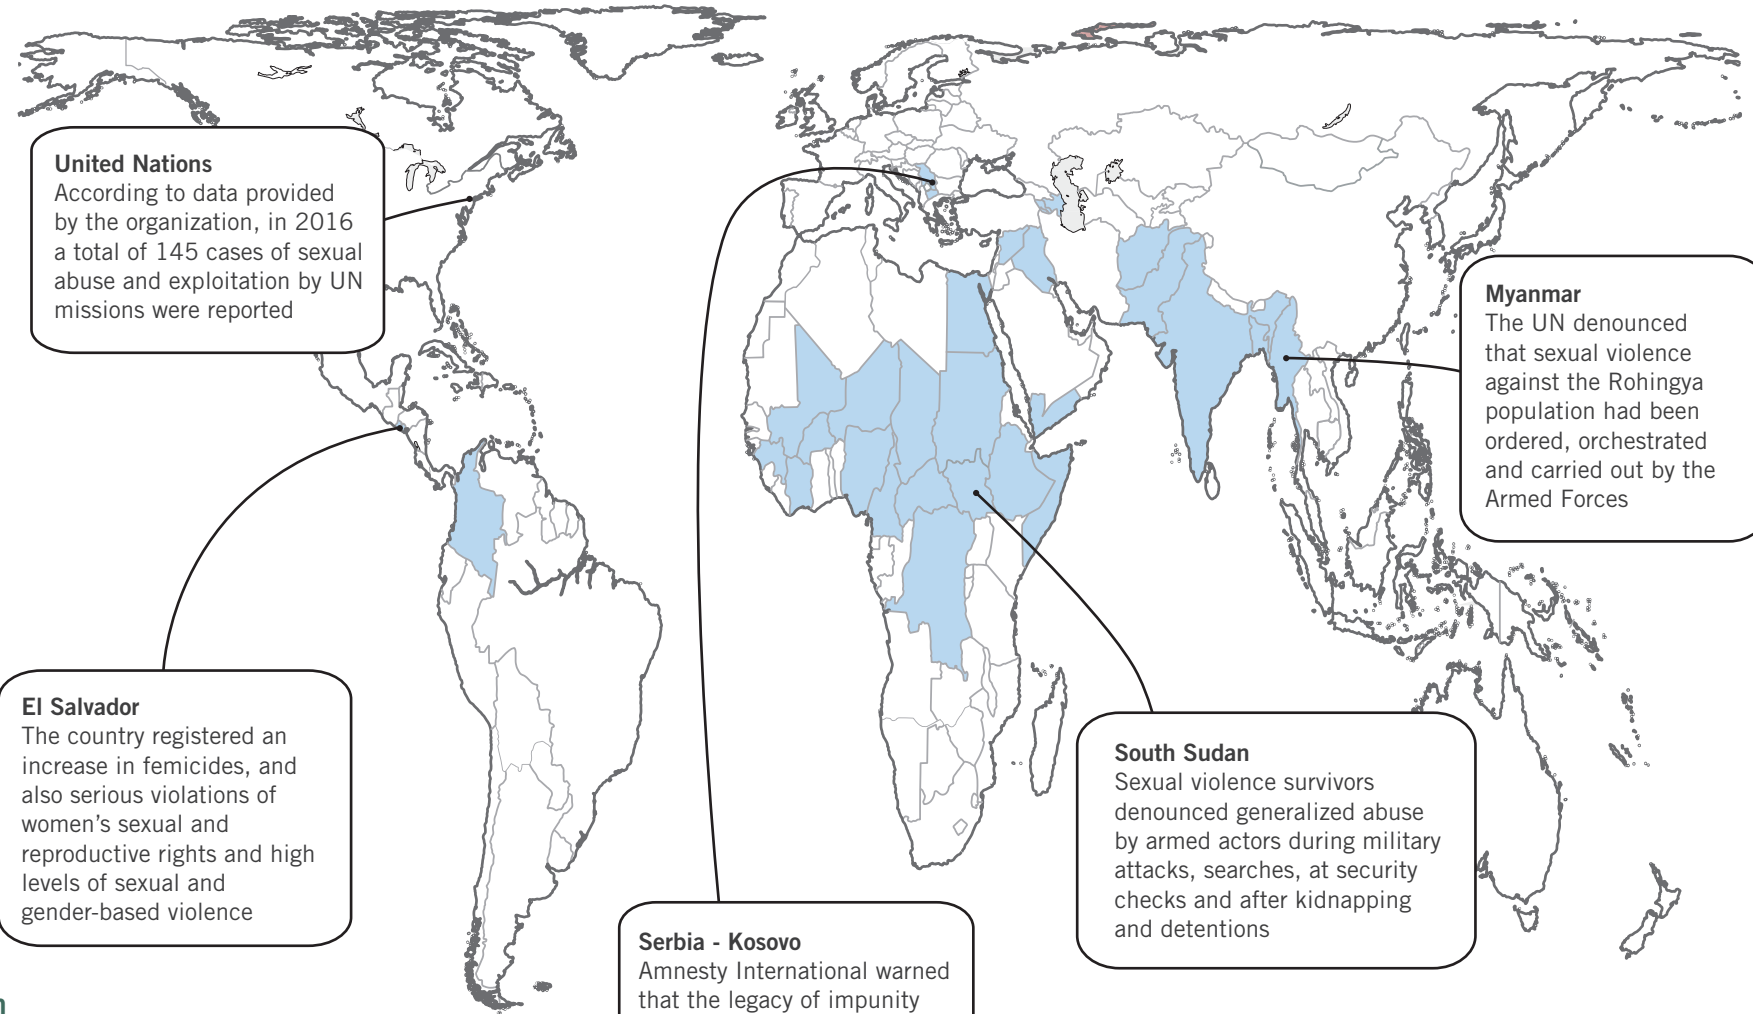

45% of socio-political crises (with data available) happened in countries with serious gender inequalities

With the support of:

Gender, peace and security

21 of the 33 armed conflicts that were still active by the end of 2017 happened in countries with serious gender inequalities

United Nations
According to data provided by the organization, in 2016 a total of 145 cases of sexual abuse and exploitation by UN missions were reported

El Salvador
The country registered an increase in femicides, and also serious violations of women's sexual and reproductive rights and high levels of sexual and gender-based violence

Serbia - Kosovo
Amnesty International warned that the legacy of impunity relating to sexual violence had not been dealt with in the negotiation process facilitated by the EU

South Sudan
Sexual violence survivors denounced generalized abuse by armed actors during military attacks, searches, at security checks and after kidnapping and detentions

Myanmar
The UN denounced that sexual violence against the Rohingya population had been ordered, orchestrated and carried out by the Armed Forces

Legend: Countries in armed conflict and/or socio-political crisis with high or very high levels of gender-based discrimination in 2017

During 2017 the UN created the advocate for the rights of victims of sexual exploitation and abuse

The UN report on gender, peace and security highlighted that during 2016 there was a regression in terms of women's participation in peace processes and fewer peace agreements that included gender issues in their wording

With the support of: